complaint committees, but it is shocking that complaint committees hardly exist even in the Government and autonomous establisments want to talk of establishment in the private sector. My fear is that when even complaint committees are not being set up, then, what will be the fate of cases of sexual harassment of working women at their workplaces. The working women must be undergoing humiliation of sexual harassment at their workplaces.

I, therefore, demand from the Government to call for a status report on the setting up of complaint committees from all the Ministries, departments, public sector enterprises, banks, universities, colleges, trusts, institutions, autonomous bodies, local bodies, and State Governments with details of the committees and place of compilation on the Table of both the Houses of Parliament. This will ensure that this specific guideline of the Apex court stands implemented. The data of sexual harassment cases may also be collected so as to end the menace at places on priority.
